Generations of Library Experience Yours for the Asking

SNEAD & COMPANY pioneered the development of metal bookstacks and library equipment. It is a tribute to the creative ability of Snead engineers that so many of their original ideas have become standard library practice, and that so large a proportion of the world's great modern libraries are living monuments to their efforts.

The wealth of library experience gained through generations of specialization is available to you without cost, and may save you the necessity of duplicating expensive development work already performed successfully for others.

Whether you are planning an entire new library, a rearrangement, or even the simple addition of a few sections, it will pay you to consult us. No obligation, of course.

LOOKING AHEAD

We've never laid claim to a monopoly of new ideas, but pioneering has long been an old Efficiency custom. Over a period of years we have contributed to the advancement of Library Service far more than our share of new methods, materials and equipment.

In 1925 we originated the Dickman Mechanical Bookcharger still said to be "the greatest technical advance known to Library Service." Then followed LEFCO Visible Book and Date cards and LEFCO Datray, then Record and Sturdi-Stock, Irontex, Longtex and Duratex, and now Efficiency Desks and Chairs.

FOREWORD

THE AMERICAN LIBRARY DIRECTORY has been revised throughout for 1939 and is expanded, especially in the number of public libraries listed and the information about them. Only the college libraries suffer serious diminution in numbers. Business libraries, for the most part, are not included, but other types of special libraries—professional and academic—are. School libraries, as such, are not included. Again, there is a subject-index to the special collections.

Libraries are classified in the following categories: (1) Libraries in the United States, (2) Libraries of the United States Territories and Dependencies, and (3) Libraries of Canada and Newfoundland. Other sections include (4) Library Organizations, (5) Library Schools, (6) State and Provincial Extension Agencies, and (7) Index to Special Collections.

(1) Libraries in the United States. This section includes in alphabetical order, first by state and thereunder by city, public libraries, educational and professional libraries, state and federal libraries. Statistics for the most part are taken from responses to questionnaires sent the libraries. Owing to the cooperation given by various state library commissions and state libraries, the names of new public libraries have been added. The practice, begun in the 1935 edition, of including small community libraries (both tax-supported and others maintained by organizations) has been continued, with as full statistical data as could be obtained; only the very small ones are not listed. For some states, however, a general listing of new libraries could not be given, because the state agencies were unable to supply that information. Even for those states, however, a few new names have been gathered from other sources.

Certain new problems of inclusion had to be solved in this edition, especially the status of public libraries which, since 1935, have affiliated with systems (city or county), and the importance of the WPA library (new or transformed). In case of the first, those libraries have been generally retained (with proper notation) if they reported an independent book fund—largely to show the transition; in the next Directory, they may be dropped, in conformity with the policy of not including branches. The WPA library offered a real problem. The actual organization varies so considerably in each state that no universal rule could be adopted. Generally speaking, libraries entirely of WPA creation are not included, though there are exceptions where an astonishing vitality was evidenced. No library that appeared transitory has been listed, but where the information received was liable to various interpretations, the compiler has had to fall back on the old tenet upon which he was reared: "When in doubt, include." The designation "WPA" has been used most sparingly, a point at which the Directory entries vary from many of the reports received; most emphatically, a library is not "WPA" if the federal contribution is only the salary of the librarian—who frequently has served the community in the same capacity for years previously.

The format adopted in the 1935 edition is retained. All of the libraries in the United States are in one list, with key letters to designate public, junior college, higher education, medical, law, hospital, institutional, state, or federal libraries. A list of the key letters appears inside the front cover. Libraries not falling within any of these classifications are not designated. Libraries not replying to the request for recent information are starred (*), but the asterisk appears before the statistical data rather than before the name of the library as it did in the 1935 edition. All information following the asterisk (no matter what its position) is repeated; to save space, full information from 1935 is not repeated for many of the smaller libraries. Libraries starred in the 1935 Directory are not relisted unless they are important, or there is positive evidence from lists, recent telephone directories, etc., that they still exist.

(2) Libraries in the United States Territories and Dependencies. This section is similar to those of previous editions of the Directory. It includes libraries in the outlying regions over which the United States has jurisdiction, so far as they have responded to inquiries.

(3) Libraries of Canada and Newfoundland. This section remains much the same as that of 1935, with revisions to bring it up to date. The Libraries of each province, of whatever character, have been included in a single alphabet under the name of the province. Libraries not replying to the request for recent information have been included and the information supplemented whenever possible from statistics taken from the Survey of Libraries in Canada 1936-38, issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, 1939. Libraries in towns of less than 1,000 population are not listed.

(4) Library Organizations. This section includes state, provincial and regional library associations and clubs arranged in alphabetical order.

(5) Library Schools. A list of the library schools of the United States and Canada is arranged by the short name by which each school is best known. Starred entries indicate accredited schools.

(6) State and Provincial Extension Agencies. This is merely the list of agencies. Statistical information about the book collections, income, etc., appear in the main lists of libraries.

(7) Index to Special Collections. Special collections of outstanding importance, or special strengths or interests of libraries have been listed at the end of the various library entries; this feature is noticeably expanded, due to the enthusiasm libraries themselves feel for such listing. A subject-index will be found useful. A figure in parenthesis after a page reference indicates the number of special collections on a particular page featuring this subject.

Notes of omissions and errors are invited. All reports have been carefully checked, but a volume of such elaborate detail can merely aspire to perfection. It is hoped that none of the defects will prove embarrassing. Special thanks are due the state commissions and state libraries for their generous help in supplying information about the libraries of their state and in answering what must at times have seemed perfectly obvious questions.

Interlaken ARCO BUCKRAMS

ART BUCKRAM · BINDERY BUCKRAM · GUILD BUCKRAM

LONG the standard for durability and best appearance, Interlaken Buckrams—with ARCO finish—now take their place as standard for protection against damp, dirt, fingerprints and vermin. ARCO Buckrams cut down your replacement costs. For books not requiring the heavy Buckrams, Interlaken suggests regular ARCO, Numbers 1, 2 or 3, lighter cloths having the same desirable protection features.

Consult your nearest Interlaken agent, who will show you the wide range of Interlaken grades, patterns, and colors at your disposal.
